Forward Looking Statements

Certain statements in this news release contain “forward-looking statements” regarding future events and our future results that are subject to the safe harbors created under the Securities Act of 1933. All statements other than statements of historical facts are statements that could be deemed to be forward-looking statements. These statements are based on current expectation and information and the beliefs and assumptions of ARI’s management. Words such as “expects,” “anticipates,” “goals,” “intends,” “plans,” “believes,” “seeks,” “estimates,” “may,” or variations of such words, and similar expressions are intended to identify such forward-looking statements. By their nature, forward-looking statements are based on various assumptions and are subject to inherent risks and uncertainties. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on our forward-looking statements as a number of factors could cause actual future results, conditions, actions or events to differ materially from the expectations or intentions expressed in the forward-looking statements. Such factors include, but are not limited to: uncertainties relating to the specific scope and nature of the assets acquired, which uncertainties are inherent in acquisitions of assets that are part of a bankruptcy estate; potential delays in or unanticipated costs related to the integration of the acquired business and ARI’s pre-existing businesses; and those other factors described in Part 1A of ARI’s annual report on Form 10-K for fiscal year ended July 31, 2012, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The forward-looking statements are made only as of the date hereof, and ARI undertakes no obligation to update these forward-looking statements except as may be required by applicable law or regulations. For more information, please refer to the ARI’s filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
